Experience NCJW's Collective Power in Our Nation's Capital

NCJW has a Vision for America — a vision of social justice for all. Washington Institute is a powerful opportunity to turn our progressive ideals into action. It is an extraordinary chance for all NCJW members and supporters to come together from around the country to make an impact on our nation's leaders. Only once every three years does our collective voice echo with such resonance in the corridors of power, speaking out for progressive social change to our nation's leaders on Capitol Hill and in the White House. Be there to make our voices heard — to pursue the kind of progressive social change we seek — to be the change we wish to see in the world!

We are particularly excited about this Washington Institute 2010 (WIX) because so many of the issues NCJW leads on are at the fore, and so many allies in Washington are ready to meet with, hear from, and work with us.

Join us in Washington, DC, to help us launch our newest campaign focused on ending violence against women by improving the economic status of women. Hear about what's really happening inside-the-beltway directly from high-level administration and congressional leaders. Learn about how the courts are affecting our rights and freedoms and how we can engage in protecting our most fundamental rights. Explore the progress being made on issues that impact the needs of women and girls. Join your NCJW colleagues on the Hill as we visit members of Congress and lobby for public policy that will ensure social justice for all. And join us as we pay tribute to the recipients of NCJW's Women Who Dared and Social Action Awards.

Washington Institute is an unequalled opportunity for you to take action and effect change. Whether you are devoted to volunteering, grassroots advocacy, or other community work, Washington Institute is for you.

Be part of the action. Come to Washington, DC, this March and join your NCJW colleagues as we speak up and take action for social justice and for women, families, and children everywhere. This is a not-to-be-missed event, so be sure to register today!

Honor a Woman Who Dared

Lilly Ledbetter, a manager at the Goodyear Tire and Rubber plant in Gadsden, Alabama, took her quest for equal pay all the way to the Supreme Court. When the Court decided against her — changing the way that equal pay cases are handled for everyone — Lilly Ledbetter courageously fought with the help of NCJW and others to pass a law that undid that decision. NCJW was proud to stand with her as President Obama signed the Lilly Ledbetter Fair Pay Act eight days after his inauguration. At Washington Institute 2010 NCJW will honor Ms. Ledbetter with its Woman Who Dared Award. Be there to hear her inspiring story and applaud her actions!

Visit the soon-to-be launched Virtual Washington Institute at www.ncjw.org/wix to get the latest updates about NCJW's premier public policy event and to get the most out of your WIX experience!

Special Events

Post-Institute Opportunity

NCJW is pleased to usher you into the magnificent and historic White House. Join us on Wednesday morning for this special tour of Washington's most prestigious address. To take advantage of this free event, indicate your attendance on the Institute registration form.

Major Donor Event

Join NCJW for an exclusive event! Contact Debbie Stillman at debbie@ncjwdc.org to receive details when they become available so you can be part of this event.

WIX SERVICE OPPORTUNITY

Want to enhance your Washington Institute experience and assist DC-area low-income women entering the workforce? Please consider bringing a scarf, package of panty hose, nearly new Spring suit or business outfit (clean and pressed), or another accessory to complete a "back to work" wardrobe. These will be collected at WIX and donated to Suited for Change and Dressed for Success.

READ RAVE REVIEWS FROM PAST WASHINGTON INSTITUTES:

“I think Washington Institute is a remarkable, empowering, motivating conference that I would recommend to everyone.”

“I will be more powerful because I'm better informed.”

“The more you get to speak to members of Congress the more confident you feel. NCJW prepares you so well to be an educated and informed advocate.”

NCJW Washington Institute 2010: Hotel Information

Washington Institute will be held at the Omni Shoreham Hotel, 2500 Calvert Street, NW, Washington, DC 20008. A famous DC landmark, the Omni Shoreham is located in the elegant Woodley Park neighborhood (only yards from a Metrorail stop).

A special room rate of $227 single and double occupancy has been arranged for NCJW Washington Institute attendees. Room rates do not include a 14.5% occupancy tax. Reservations must be guaranteed with a major credit card and may be canceled without penalty up to 48 hours prior to arrival to avoid loss of deposit.

Reservations will be accepted at the special room rate until February 23 or until the group room allotment is filled. Reservations received after this date will be subject to availability and prevailing rates. Check-in time is 3:00 pm and check-out time is noon.

Space is limited so please make your reservations early. Call Omni's Central Reservation Center at 800-THE-OMNI and identify yourself as an NCJW Washington Institute attendee. To book a hotel reservation online, log on to www.omnihotels.com and follow the steps to make a regular reservation. Under "Special Rates" there is a box to type in the "Group Code". For NCJW the number is 12400609395. This will also allow the individuals to get the group discounted rate.

NCJW has a contractual agreement with the hotel to ensure the best rates possible for Institute attendees. Rooms must be reserved directly through Omni, as arrangements made through discount internet sites or travel wholesalers will compromise our contractual obligation and may result in additional charges for NCJW.

Washington Institute officially opens on Sunday, March 21 at 1:30 pm and closes on Tuesday, March 23 at 10:00 pm. Pre-institute training begins on Saturday evening, March 20.
